

CONTENTS

Aleksandar Antić and Nemanja Tomić: Assessing the speleotourism potential together with archaeological and palaeontological heritage in Risovača Cave (Central Serbia)	1
Ladislav Župčán and Martina Župčánová: Application of virtual components in historical - environmental coexistence on selected examples from museum practice	12
Pavol Rybár and Ladislav Hvizdák: The Calvary of Banská Štiavnica	28
Miloš Jesenský and Pavel Hronček: Foreign alchemists as the first mining tourists in Upper Hungary (present-day Slovakia) in the 16th century	34
Marta Bał, Krzysztof Bał, Mariusz Szubert and Ewa M. Welc: The area affected by sturzstrom in the Friulian Dolomites as the place to learn and understand the strength of natural forces and consequences for the natural environment and local communities	40
Jiří Kupka: Římov – south Bohemian Jerusalem	51
Iveta Rakytová: Basic characteristics of pilgrimage localities and their virtual image on the Internet	61
Martin Přibil: Sacral Art in Czech Mining and Metallurgical Regions	74
Vladimír Čech, Vladislava Košová and Marek Pira: Brestovská Cave as a new locality for speleotourism in Slovakia	91
Marián Lukáč : Pilgrimage tourism in Košice and its surroundings	102

Bohuslava Gregorová : Pilgrimage tourism - conceptualization and current directions in research from the point of view of geography

110